1. While visiting at the Fritz Werner plant in Germany (April 1953) where I was negotiating for sales rights on some of Werner's products and equipment, I noticed some 20 mm shell casings being processed. Upon inquiring I found that this was a new type case put out by the Orlikon Works of Switzerland. I was given one of these casings more or less as a souvenir but upon examination later on I noticed some variations from the standard types of this size. This casing is steel, SAE-10/10.
